The Ben Davis Way . . . and the schedules of 1660 very busy people

Ben Davisites have become accustomed to hammering and banging as they patiently watch the construction of a new Cafeteria and Industrial Arts Building in front of the Main Building.

Ben Davis Wayne Central Building on a warm spring morning before the rush begins.

their campus grow

The theme of the 1957 Keyhole is the Ben Davis Way of Keeping Busy. The following pages picture over 1600 students and 72 faculty members engaged in the rushed and sometimes hectic activities and situations that arise in a typical school day.

Gee . . . it's a busy day

The Ben Davis Way of keeping busy is quite unique. This could be attributed to the fact that Ben Davisites get a very early start. Once they start they keep busy from early morning until late in the evening. Often students rehearse plays and practice for athletic events before the 7:30 bell in the morning. Other early arrivers confer with teachers, study in the library or gym, or circulate the latest news. Many dance in the gym to the latest Rock and Roll tunes and try to decide whether Elvis Presley, Pat Boone, or Tab Hunter is their favorite. They discuss everything from the latest method of taping a steady's ring to the Stevenson-Eisenhower presidential campaign, and the new fin styling in automobiles. They race between buildings for six periods a day, eat during a 30-minute lunch shift, rush off to a part time job after school, or stay for a club meeting, play rehearsal, athletic practice, or seventh period detention class. A Ben Davis student's daily activity would leave anyone but a very energetic teenager breathless.

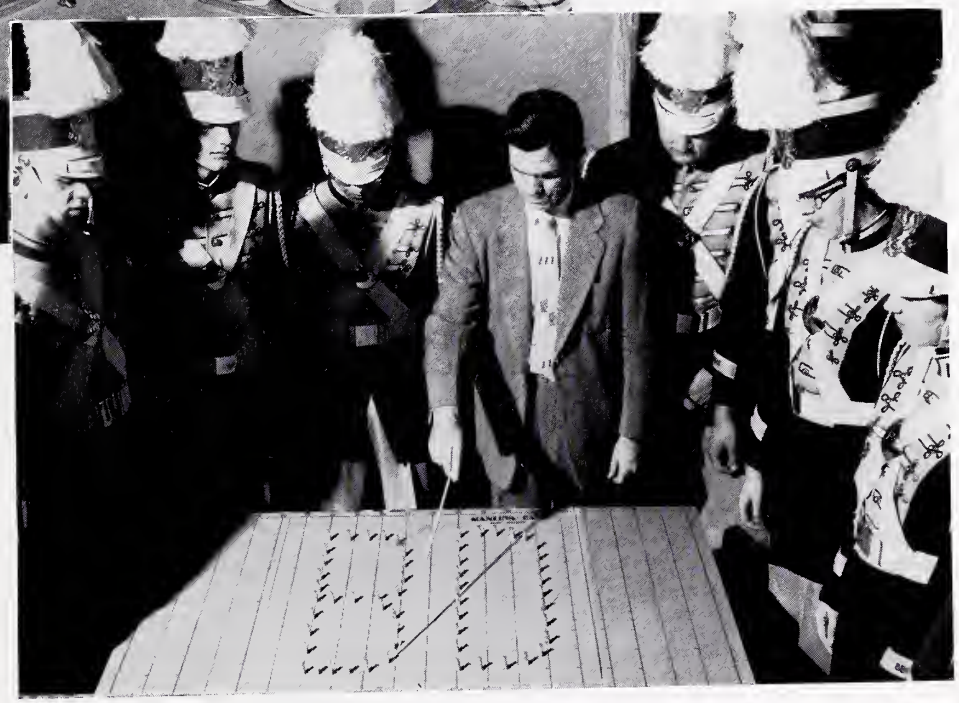

During her 55-minute preparation period, Miss Mary McLane hurries to finish grading a stack of papers.

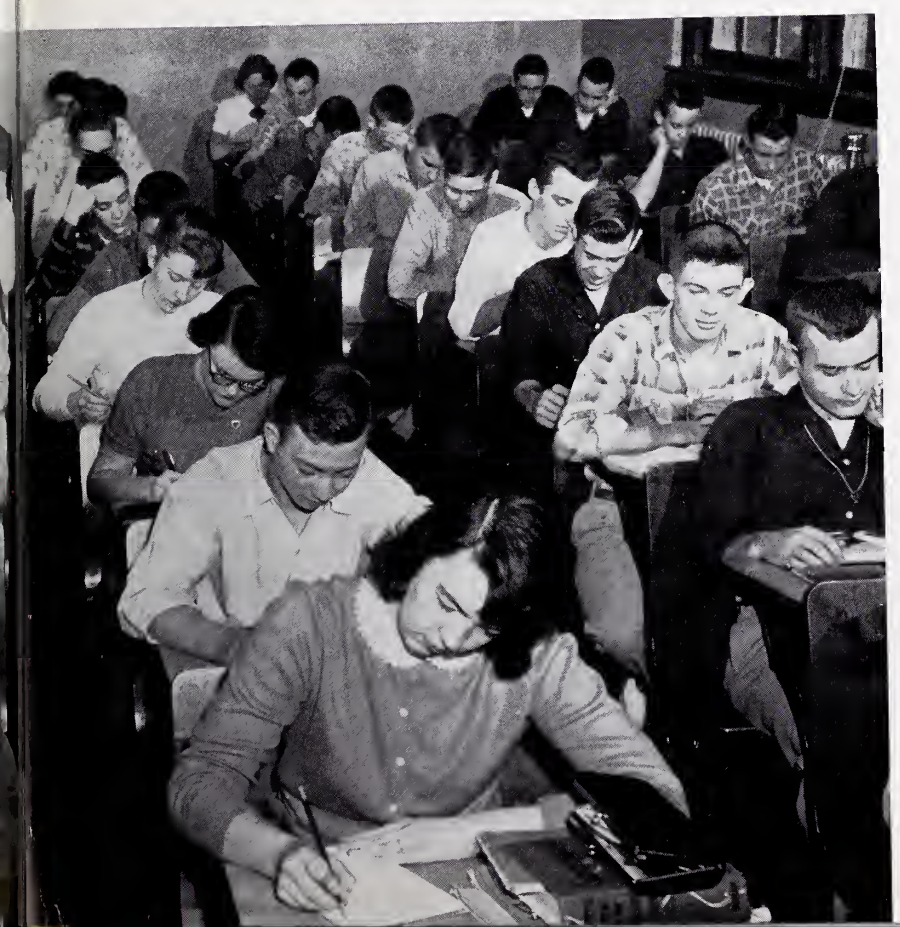

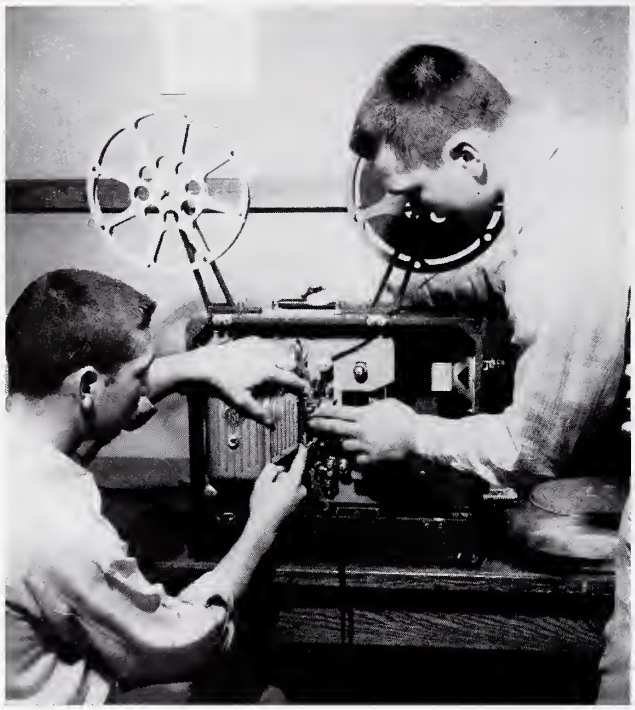

Students watch the clock as they try to eat in the 25 minutes allotted to each lunch shift.

Mr. Ralph Chandler, Band Director, gives the Marching Band last minute instructions for a football show.

Students have a chance to finish homework and study lessons in their study halls. On test days they often do last minute "cramming" for their exams.

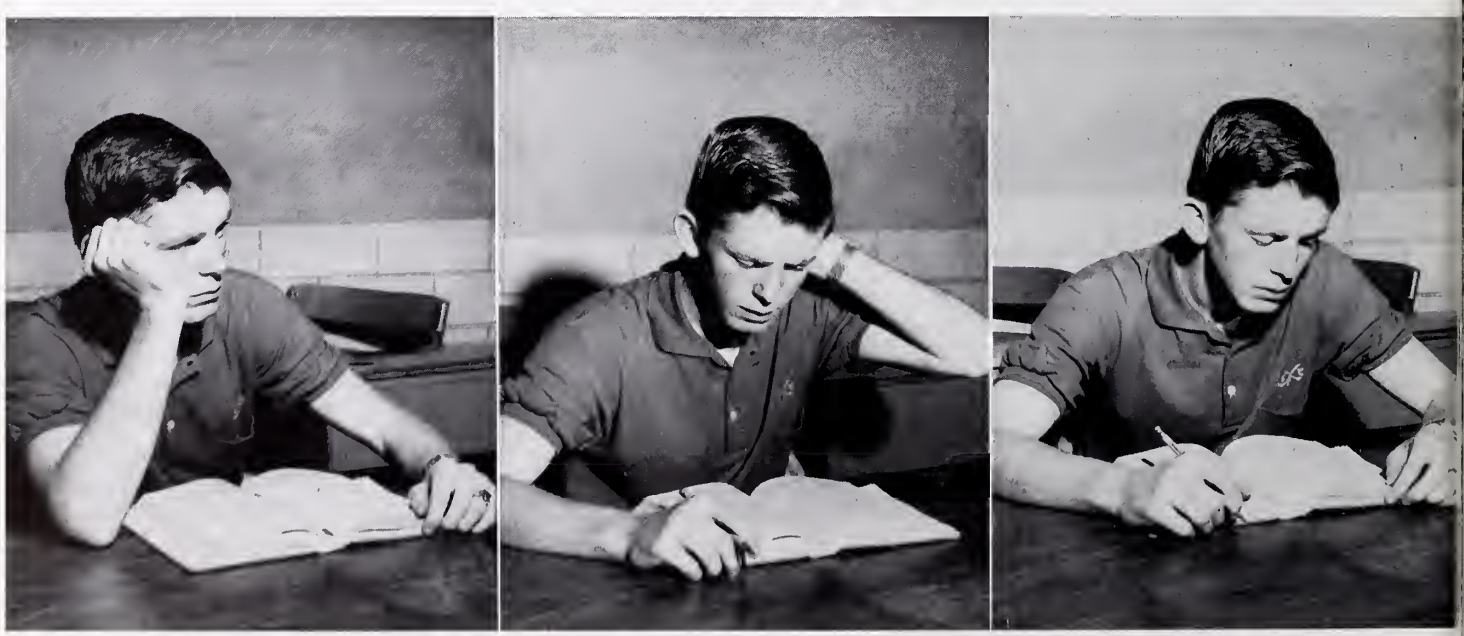

Almost always in demand, the movie projectors move in and out of the Audio-visual Aids room rapidly. Above, Ray Howard and Jerry Brown thread a projector.

Throughout the day students dash from one activity to another with amazing rapidity. At 10 o'clock a student may be playing a strenuous game of volleyball but at 10:15 he might be attempting to analyze Bryant's "Thanatopsis" in literature class or trying to capture the mood of an autumn scene for an oil painting. An hour later he could be practicing maneuvers in band and return to the building, with just enough time to walk his favorite girl friend to class before the final bell.

The six-minute break between classes must include a quick trip to the locker, buying supplies at the Book Den, returning a book to the library, sharpening pencils, or just killing time.

With almost boundless energy, he races from one thing to another until, sometime late in the evening, a coach says, "Goodnight, boys," or the dramatics director hurries the last straggler out of the building after a long rehearsal.

The campus buzzes

During a lull in his busy schedule, Mickey Powell does a little serious meditating.

Students often race the clock in typing class. Above, Marilyn Gray and Carol Roberts check over a timed test. Practically every girl at Ben Davis studies shorthand and typing.

with activity

The busiest place in the world is probably a school gymnasium—certainly one of the most decorated. Here the Band sponsors a Christmas Dance.

On a field trip, Mrs. Berndine Proctor, biology teacher, discusses the wonders of nature with her students.

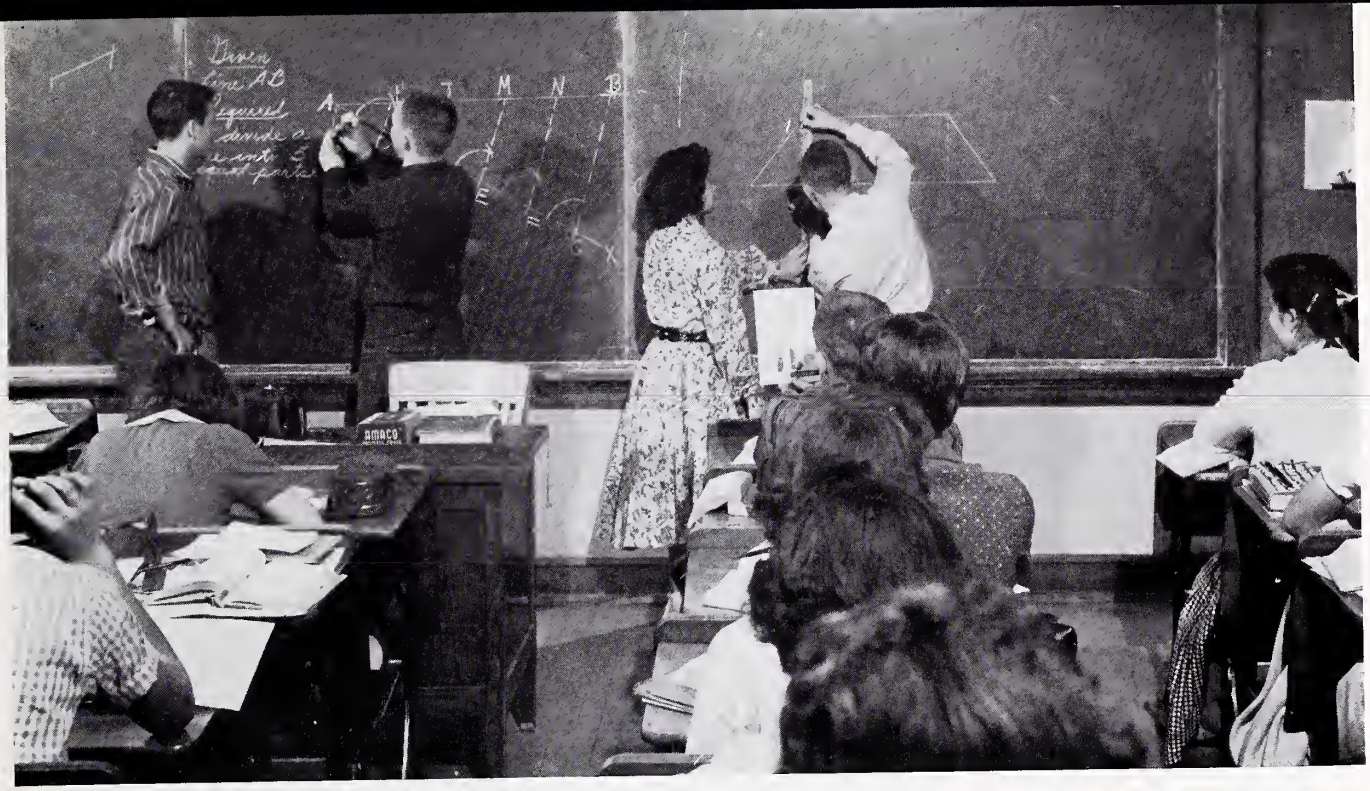

Recognizing this era as an Atomic or Hydrogen Age and that the world is depending more and more on science, Ben Davis students prepare accordingly. Seeing the need for men and women trained in scientific fields, they fill high school schedules with math and science. General math, business arithmetic, algebra, geometry, trigonometry, and advanced algebra make up the mathematics courses here. Biology, botany, chemistry, and physics constitute the possibilities in science.

However, the study of science is not necessarily intended for future job training. Living with modern automation, everyone needs to know the basic principles behind the latest developments. This knowledge is not for engineers or scientists alone. All students must study biology for science also includes the study of nature, and it is everyone's privilege to learn as much about it as possible.

The Ben Davis Way

Ronnie Oglesby, Lanny Nutty, Elaine Daughetee, and Diane Culley work in a maze of test tubes, bottles, and experimental equipment to prove a chemistry formula.

Geometry students prove their talents by constructing problems on the blackboard.

. . . To prepare for a scientific future

In physics class, Harold Craig, Jane Smith, and Tom Shillington calculate weights in relation to pressure.

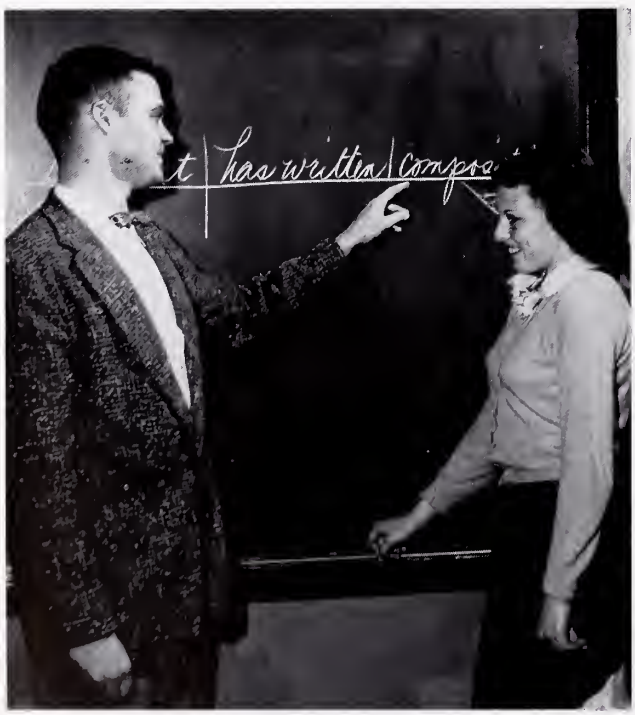

"Ready?" asks Mr. Don Hansell as he adjusts the tape recorder for speech student Carolyn Fields.

Mrs. Louise Williams helps Loretta Wiggins find research material in the pamphlet file.

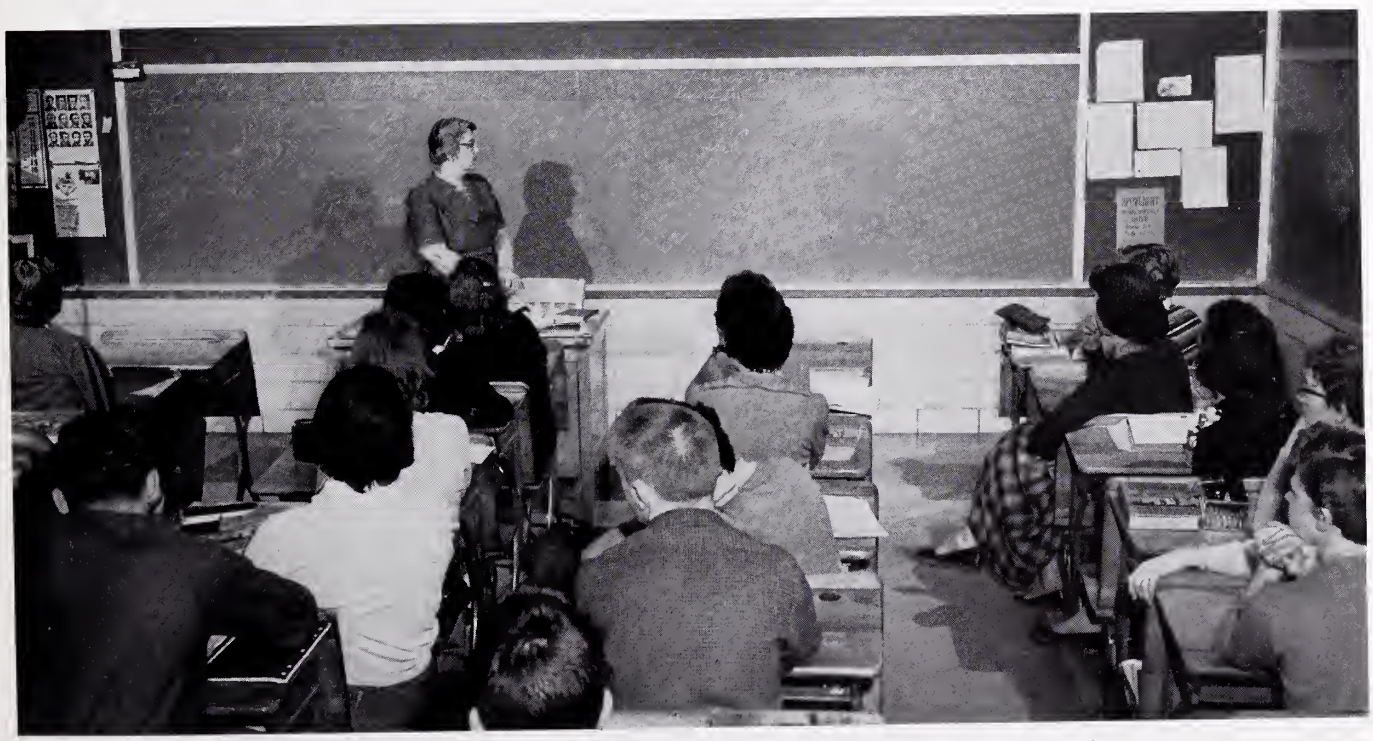

Mr. Duane Fleener explains to Shirley Inman that diagraming sentences is important in understanding the basic construction of English.

Although an English major is required by all Indiana high schools, Ben Davis supplements ordinary classes with language arts and foreign languages. All are designed to perfect language skills. In addition to classes in general literature on the underclassman level, all students must take American Literature, and may elect to study English and Bible Literature. The grammar courses, starting with freshman remedial classes and going all the way to college preparatory grammar and composition, are carefully planned so that every student should have a basic understanding of sentence structure and correct usage by the time he is graduated. Ben Davis also offers three semesters of speech and two of journalism. Latin and Spanish are the two foreign languages taught at Ben Davis. The main objective of both is primarily to help a student better understand English. Latin, the most popular, is taught for eight semesters, while Spanish is offered four.

Wearing toga and stola, Nancy Andrews and Bob Davis, freshmen, illustrate typical Roman dress before Mrs. Helen Wampler's Latin I class.

. . . To perfect language skills

Prose and poetry are taught in Mrs. Ruth Gooch's American Literature Class, a graduation requirement.

Mr. Richard Apple pins a medal of achievement on an outstanding R.O.T.C. student. Mr. James Hobson is in charge of the Ben Davis unit.

Judy Boroughs and Carol Mattingly learn the basic principles of food preparation in their home economics class.

Miss Harriet Wilkerson shows Marguerite Underwood how to insert a sleeve in the garment she is sewing.

Signaling for a left-hand turn, a driver's training student shows Mr. Woodrow Baker, her instructor, that she's learning her lesson well.

. . . To develop practical arts

In recent years many new courses have been added to the school curriculum to keep pace with modern living. Now students learn to become skilled and safe drivers. They study safety and health, R. O. T. C., audio-visual aid, shop, agriculture, and mechanical drawing. Girls take home economics which includes child care and home nursing.

Mr. Raleigh Roach offers Richard Wallace a few suggestions on improving his blueprints.

Working on a project for Mr. Kenneth Hayes' shop class, Albert Churchman and Clarence Coyle sand and drive the last nails in their cedar chests.

Carol Roberts spends many hours preparing the oil paintings for her advanced art class.

Culture also has its place at Ben Davis. The students express themselves creatively in many ways. They learn to interpret music, art, writing, and drama. They perform in the band at various school functions or march in parades. They sing in one of the five choirs. They paint, sculpture, and mold ideas in art classes. They write short reports, themes, book reports, write and give speeches, and interpret poems in English courses. They produce their own newspaper and yearbook. They act in the two plays put on by the Dramatic Club each year. The newly formed Forensic League sponsored by Mr. Donald Hansell forms an outlet for public speaking.

It makes no difference whether training for a future career or just doing something they enjoy. Fine arts deal with beautiful thoughts, ideas, and expressions. "Beauty is its own excuse for being" according to Ralph Waldo Emerson.

The Ben Davis Way

Art students Jean Halliburton, Earletta Taylor, and Gloria Chafey create papier-mache figures for a class project.

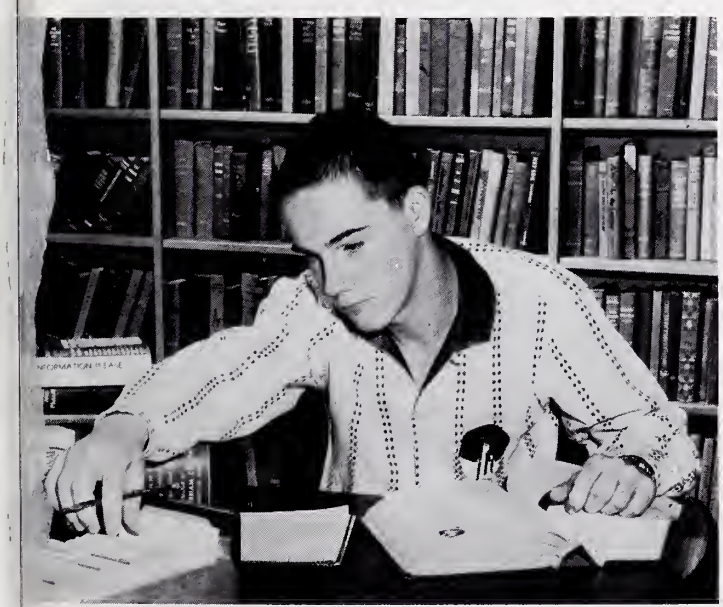

Band students learn to appreciate music by performing. Here members of the trombone section have a last minute warm up.

"I can't pay the rent!" sobs Carolyn Fields to Bob Lewis in a Speech II class project.

. . . To appreciate fine arts

Creative writing sometimes takes research, Dave Yockey discovers.

Political tension areas are located by Ruth Rohl, Miss Olive Carruthers, Dave Cooper, and Virginia Keifer.

Special emphasis is placed on teaching government at Ben Davis. Students learn in their Student Council and traffic court as well as in their regular history, civics, and journalism classes how much democracy means to them and how much they take it for granted. In civics class they study the ways in which federal, city, and local governments are run. In journalism and all social studies classes they follow international politics by reading the newspapers.

"I just want the facts," says Buddy Jones, judge of Student Traffic Council, as he tries a violator.

Janice Rife reads an article on foreign affairs for a report in history class.

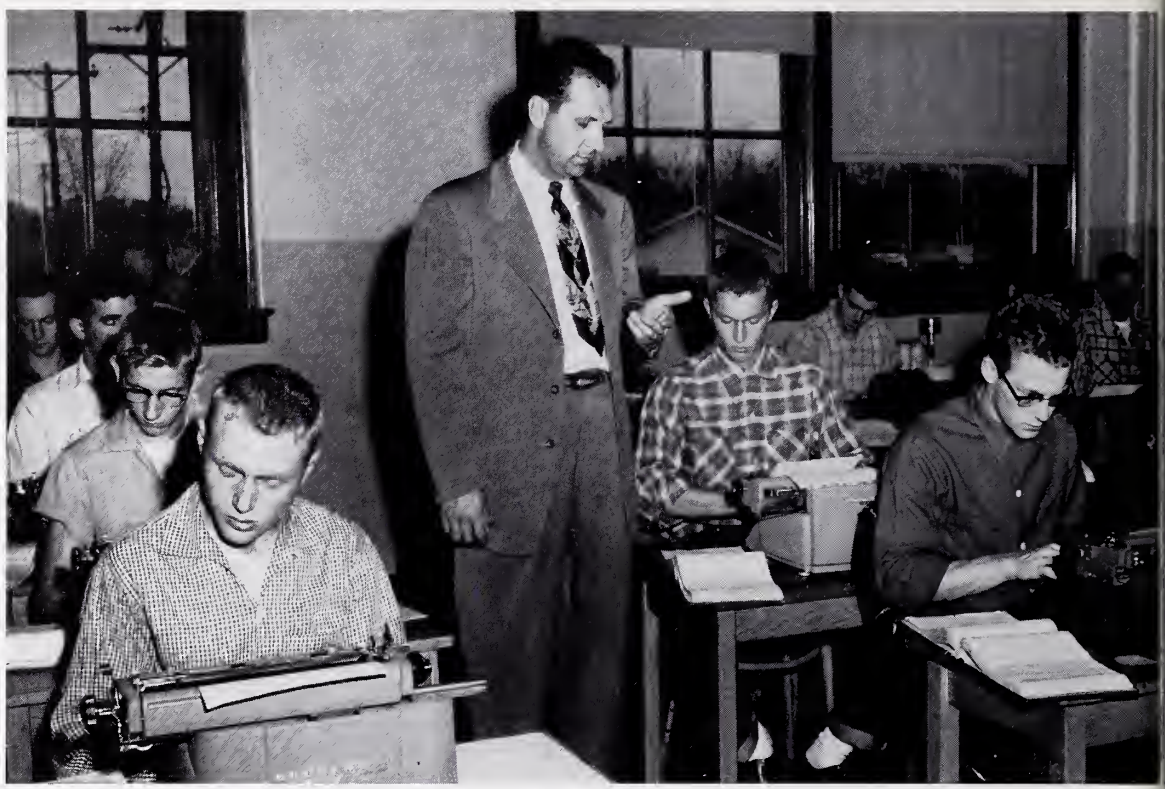

Student Council members learn important lessons in parliamentary procedure and self-government. Here, John Wallace, president, discusses current issues with roll room representatives.

. . . To learn self government

Journalism students like Peggy Caldwell and Eunice Ingalls know the importance of the newspaper in a democratic government. Here they count copies of the student-produced Spotlight.

Speed and accuracy are the goals in this first all-boys' typing class taught by Mr. Loren Jackson.

Clauda Poland, P.B.X. operator, gains experience under the instruction of Mrs. Alice Harker.

Melba Gunter practices her salesmanship on Dave Utterback as Nancy Smith urges him to buy a homecoming chrysanthemum.

Daily attendance records are duplicated and circulated to teachers every day. Here Jane Jackson operates the mimeograph machine. Each period three girls work in the main office serving as general messengers, file clerks, P.B.X. operators, and receptionists. Melba Gunter uses the phone as Judy Berry checks records.

. . . To prepare for the business world

Joyce Pence and Julia Burns gain practical experience in retail selling by working in the Book Den. Mr. Donald Sargent, Book Den Manager, selects these girls from business courses on the basis of dependability and friendliness.

In an effort to aid teachers and give students practical secretarial training, each department head is assigned a student secretary during his preparation period. Here Mrs. Beneda Campbell, English Department Head, confers with her secretary, Jackie Asdale.

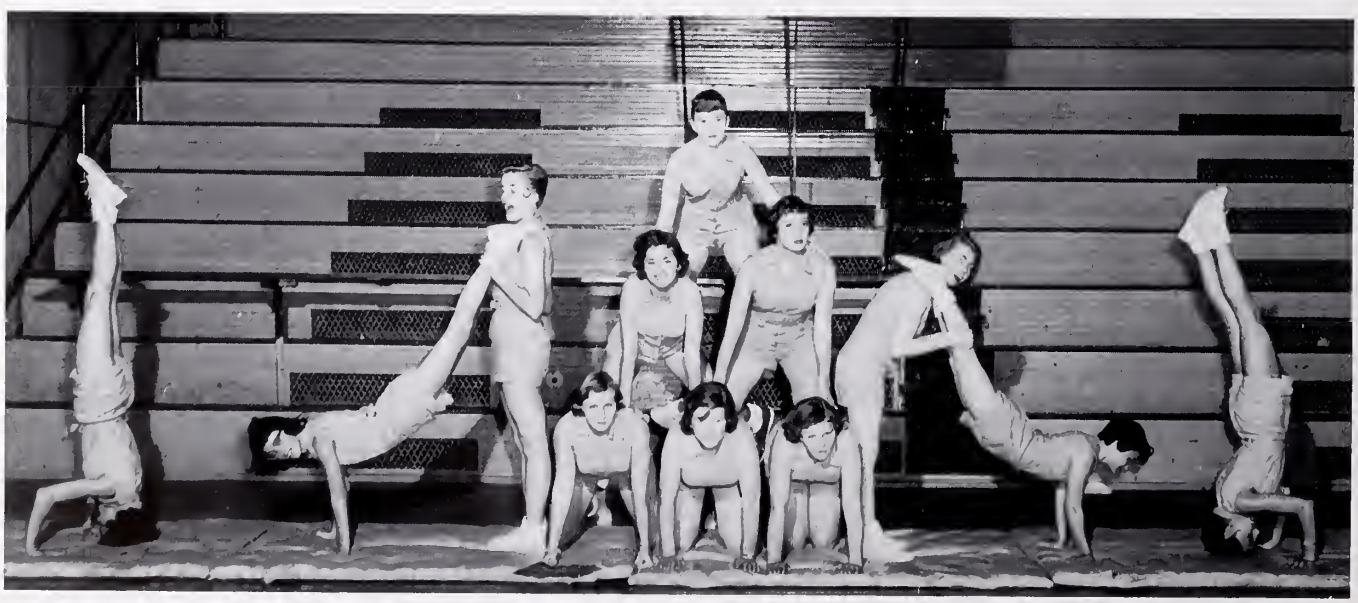

Snow fun means sledding to Jimmy Dodds, Pat LaBan and Virginia Kiefer.

The Ben Davis Way ... To keep

Girls form pyramids and designs in gym classes. Students learn many physical skills in their freshman and sophomore years when physical education is a requirement. In the spring and fall, the girls play tennis and softball outside, but in the winter they are occupied with indoor activities.

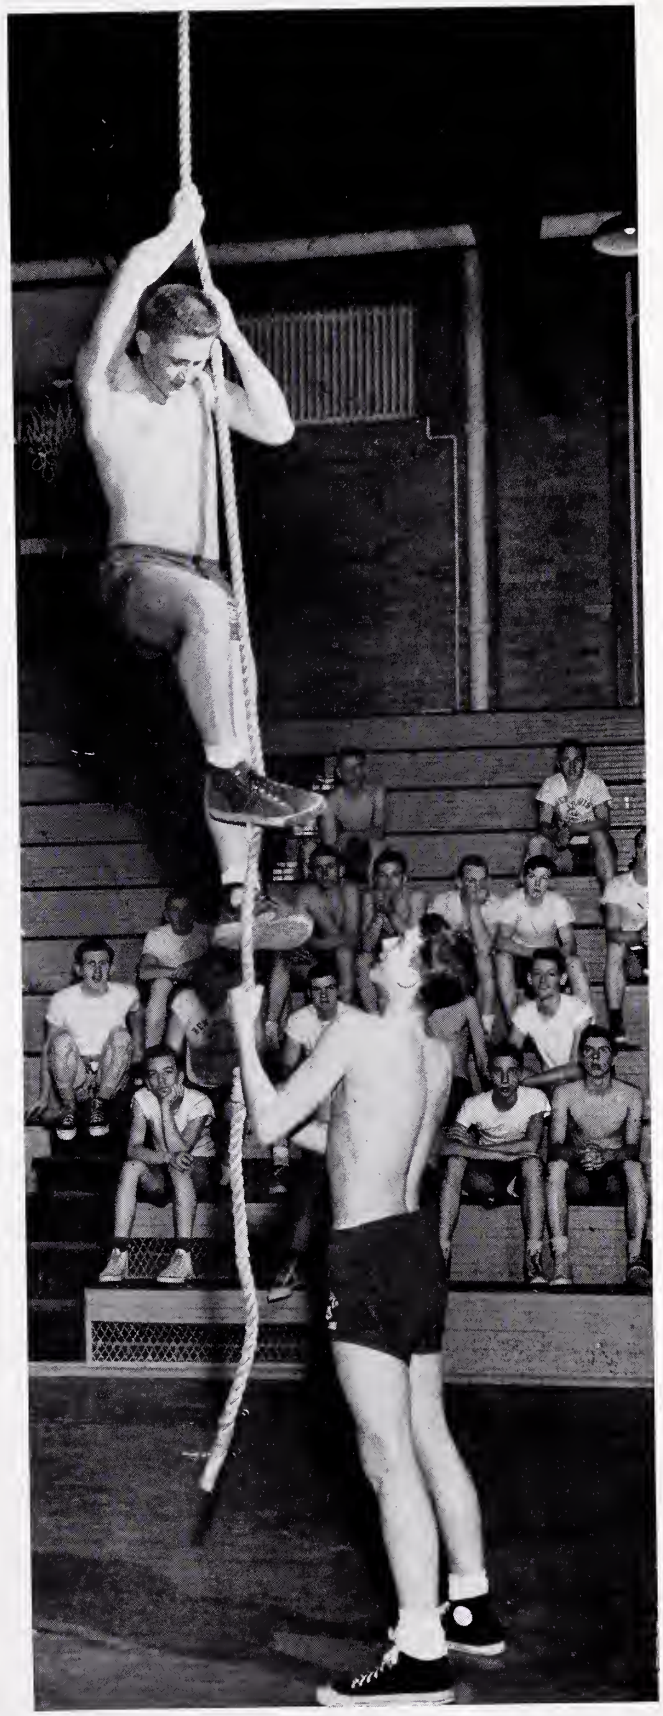

Horseback riding is very popular among Ben Davis students, such as Judy Zimmerman.

With the first breath of spring, boys like George Bernhard and Mike Baker play softball in their leisure time.

Physical education class gives Jack Van Meter and Dick Sullivan a chance to develop physical coordination.

"Hound Dog or Too Much?" asks Sue Shopp as she selects an Elvis platter to spin at a slumber party. Other girls are Karen Harmon, Judy Sater, Judy Townsend, Sue Shopp, and Pat Thorne.

Extremely car conscious B. D. students spend hours tinkering with their "pride and joy."

It's hard to distinguish the Ben Davis students' leisure hours from their working ones. They have so many things to do and only 24 hours in which to do them. They go to drugstores, drive-in restaurants, and root beer stands to eat, or just drive around. They plan parties, picnics, and double dates. They skate, swim, bowl, and go horseback riding. They watch ball games, play miniature golf and tennis, or just "mess around." For special dates they dress up and go to the movies or to dances. And, of course, after the "big date" they go after pizza.

When the girls aren't with the boys, they are at sub-deb meetings and discussing them. The boys spend days and weeks "souping up" the motor of an old hot rod and attend drag races at Stout Field. All in all the average B. D. student has a well-rounded social life and is well adjusted.

. . . To spend leisure hours

Almost every afternoon students flock to local drugstores for a brief moment of relaxation in their hurried schedules.

Margaret Tague and Barbara Lentz, winners of merit scholarships, look over college catalogues in the library.

Ben Davis' first homecoming queen, LaVerne Norris, is escorted onto the football field in grand style. Her court includes Christianna Wolf, Nancy Farr, Judy Townsend, and Ann Wechsler.

Outstanding students are recognized and rewarded in many ways at Ben Davis. Kings and queens are chosen primarily by popular vote. This year such royalty included the Homecoming Queen, LaVerne Norris; the Pumpkin Queen, Joyce Reid; the Pumpkin King, Bob Crouch; and the Sunshine Society Queen, Noni Short. The '56 Prom Prince and Princess were Patty Cafouras and Dave Fredricks.

Christianna Wolf is the D.A.R. good citizen, and Barbara Lentz and Margaret Tague distinguished themselves by winning merit scholarships. Many college scholarships have also been awarded. Winners in speech, music, and state contests are too numerous to mention. However, the Vegetable Judging Team, under Mr. Dwight Cottingham, distinguished itself again this year by winning a trip to Atlanta, Georgia, and many boys and girls won individual prizes in 4-H projects.

Christianna Wolf is the 1957 recipient of the good citizenship award presented by the Daughters of the American Revolution.

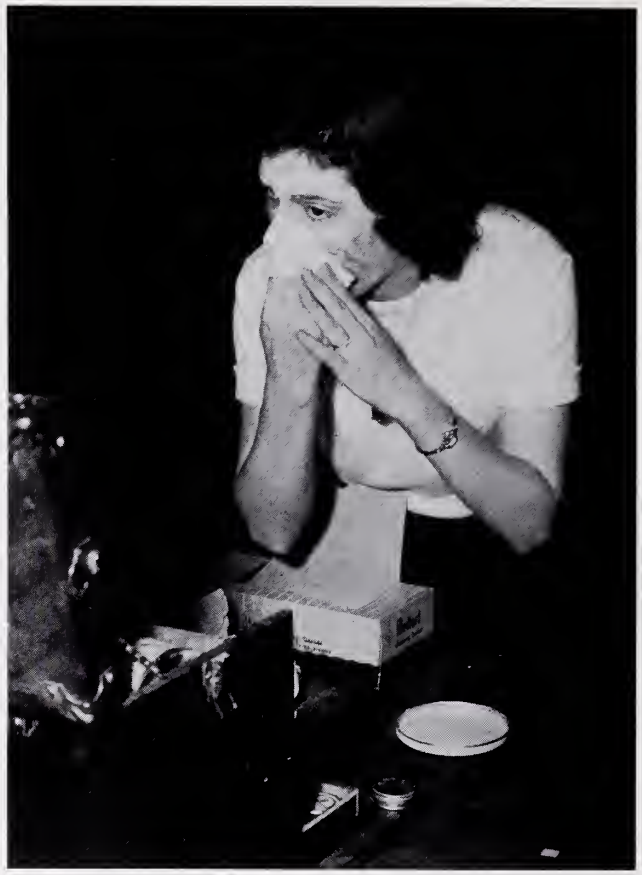

. . . To win awards and honors

All attention is focused on Dave Fredricks, '56 Prom Prince, as Romilda England, program chairman, crowns him. The queen, Pat Cafouras (to the right) waits anxiously for her crown.

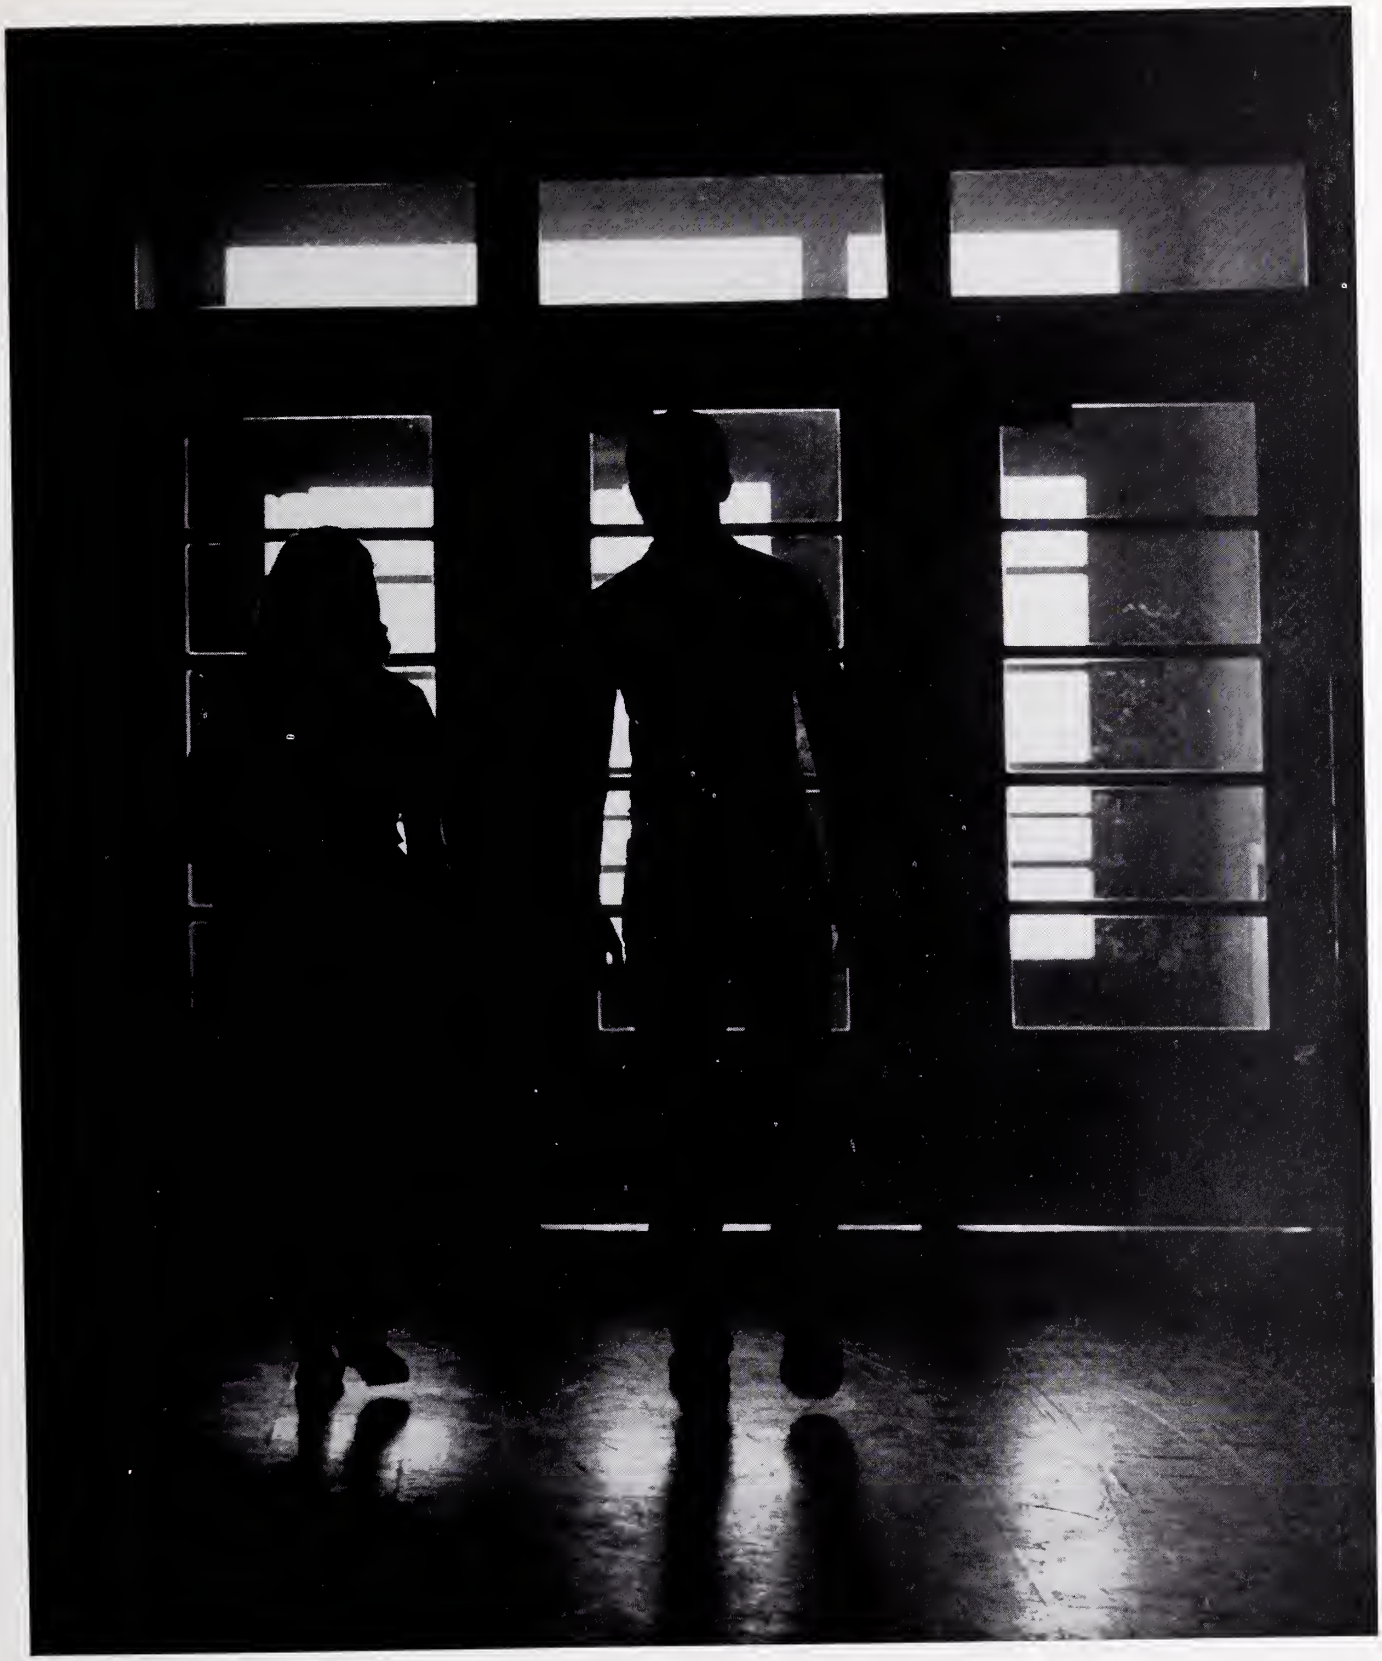

After the 2:30 bell, Dave Jones stops briefly at his locker before he rushes to catch his bus.

Late in the evening, Romilda England takes off stage make-up after a Dramatic Club production.

. . . The end to a very busy day

Activities . . .

As the campus and the student body expand so do the extra curricular activities. There are now 13 clubs at Ben Davis. Newly organized were the Youth for Christ and the Lettermen's Club. Also started this year were a Forensic League and a boys' glee club.

Council Reflects Students' Opinions

Students learn important lessons in governing themselves through their own student council. It began three years ago to voice the opinions and decisions of the student body. It is now a working organization of 44 roll room representatives, 12 club presidents, and various other students.

Sponsored by Mr. Richard Apple, guidance counselor, the club meets every two weeks on a Wednesday in the Junior Building auditorium.

Hobo Day, which was characterized by students dressing in old clothes for a full day at school, was one of the council's projects.

Among the important decisions the council made this year was setting the requirements the class and council officers must meet.

They had charge of Ben Davis' first football homecoming this year, and they sponsored two convocations for the student body.

Roll Room representative, Randy Chambers, reports what transpired at the last meeting to his roll room. Representatives are elected from the roll rooms.

Seating arrangements and a final check of plans for the Honor Society banquet are discussed by David Fink, Debby Brown, Miss Olive Carruthers, and John Wallace, president.

Students Recognized for High Scholarship

In its second year at Ben Davis High School, The National Honor Society initiated 37 new members at a banquet held on February 22 at the Indiana University Medical Center. Sponsored by Miss Olive Carruthers and assisted by Mrs. Alma Steiner, Mrs. Helen Poince, and Mr. Robert Seeman, the group recognizes service, leadership, and character as well as high scholastic achievement.

Membership in the National Honor Society is limited to ten per cent of the senior, five per cent of the junior, and two per cent of the sophomore classes. Sophomores are allowed to stay in the organization if they continue their high standards throughout their high school careers.

Serious and deserving high school journalists work long and hard to become members of Quill and Scroll, a national journalism honorary group for high school juniors and seniors.

To become an active member at Ben Davis, a student must be in the upper one-third of his class, serve at least one semester on either the Spotlight staff, Keyhole staff, or News Bureau, and be recommended by a journalism teacher. In addition to these requirements, he must earn points by doing outside work and attending all meetings while he is a pledge. Any pledge who receives a 7th period detention class for disciplinary reasons is dropped from the organization immediately. Fifteen new members were initiated in May, making a total of 21. Miss Jean Prichard is adviser.

Quill and Scroll officers, Romilda England, president; Christianna Wolf, secretary; and Barbara Lentz, treasurer; discuss their national magazine.

News Bureau Expands Publications

The Journalism Department boasts a new branch. In January a news bureau was added to supply commercial newspapers with news of Ben Davis High School. In addition to the news bureau, Ben Davis publishes a bi-weekly newspaper produced by advanced journalism students under the direction of Mrs. Marg Hile. The news branch and Spotlight are offered for credit to advanced journalism students. However, the Keyhole, Ben Davis's yearbook, is an extra-curricular activity which requires no journalism credits. At the beginning of the second semester the journalism department moved from the main building to the Wayne Central Building.

Writing copy, cropping pictures, selling ads, and meeting deadlines kept the staff busy from September till June. Production of the yearbook starts in the spring with the appointment of a new staff and tentative plans for the next yearbook theme. Several Keyhole members attend the yearbook workshop at Indiana University in July and draw the dummy. Actual production starts the first day of school and continues until each student has his yearbook, the last week of May.

The Mask and Gavel members presented two major productions for the student body this year plus a one-act play for each of their monthly meetings. Time Out For Ginger, a three-act comedy, was given last fall, and the spring production was Alice In Wonderland.

Thirteen new Thespians were initiated in March, making a total of 28 Thespians in the Troupe. A second initiation is held at the annual spring banquet, at which officers for the oncoming year are also installed. To belong to the National Thespian Society requires 10 points which are acquired by participating in plays, back stage work, art work, and through other services to the club.

This year the club's annual dance theme was Halloween. Members decorated the gym to suit the occasion.

Mask and Gavel, which is the speech and dramatic club at Ben Davis, adopted its new name this year. The club meets on the first Wednesday of the month and is sponsored by Mr. Donald Hansell.

Ginger (Romilda England) poses in costume for the fall dramatic production, Time Out for Ginger which was presented in November.

Dramatic Club member, Dave Brady, paints scenery for the spring play, Alice In Wonderland. The play had a cast of 48 students.

Ben Davis' 700 Booster Club members were really hep this year! Miss Marilyn Benson, who was the new sponsor, got the club off to a rip-roaring start by organizing a block section for the county basketball tourney. To add color, team picture pins and purple derbies with white feathers were sold for the home games to members of the section.

The block section donned their derbies and traveled to the Butler Field House once again to yell for the Giants in the Sectional tournament.

The Booster Club meetings were held on the third Monday of each month from October to February. Any Ben Davis student who wishes to support the team and serve the school may join the club.

The club sponsored several pep sessions and the Booster Bop, their annual dance.

Booster Club officers inspect their traditional derbies and shakers, Carolyn Rash, treasurer; Christianna Wolfe, secretary; Eddie Jones, president; Jo Ann Wolfe, vice president.

Booster Club Cheers Teams

Wearing white blouses and purple derbies the members of the Booster Club make an impressive picture.

"Fight 'em, Team Fight 'em!" screams the Booster Club at the County Tourney. The Club's clever, well-timed chants and yells delight the spectators and teams.

to Many Victories

Hi-Y Service Club Aids Needy Families

One of the special projects that the Hi-Y Boy's Club undertook this year was to sell cokes at all the home games during the basketball season. They also took baskets of food to needy families during the Christmas season and sponsored two of the school convocations.

There are 30 members, and their purpose is to create, maintain, and extend throughout Ben Davis High School and community high standards of Christian character.

To be a member of the Hi-Y, a boy must make passing grades in all solid subjects. The group meets on the second and fourth Thursday evenings of each month, and Mr. Loren Jackson is the sponsor.

The Sunshine Society is a national service organization of girls. There are 500 members at Ben Davis. The club's main project is the Riley Fund, to which they donated $100 this year.

At Christmas time some of the girls made Christmas cookies and took them to the Tall Cedars Nursing Home. They spent the afternoon there, singing Christmas carols for the patients. They also gave money to the Times' Clothe-A-Child Christmas Fund.

The club holds its initiation in the fall. This year 150 new members were initiated.

A scholarship fund is set aside each year to be presented to some worthy Sunshine girl who plans to enter nurses training upon graduation.

Another project of the group is their annual spring dance. It was held on March 16 and had a St. Patrick's Day theme.

Sponsored by Mrs. Esther Steindorf, Mrs. Wilma Jay, Mrs. Helen Wampler, and Mrs. Ruth Gooch, the club meets on the first Thursday of the month in the Junior Building gym.

Sunshine officers discuss important matters. Seated: Jackie Wolf, Sandra Jumpp, and Barbara Baker, president. Standing: Becky Brown and Judy Plunkett.

Sunshine Sponsors St. Patrick's Dance

St. Patrick's Day was the theme of the Sunshine Dance, held in the gymnasium on March 16. Above, the photographer caught Janet Marshall, Bill McElfresh, and Marjorie Pettit on the stairs as they entered.

The highlight of the Math Club this year was a trip to the Planetarium at Butler University, which most of the 40 members attended.

To be eligible to join Trialge, a student must be enrolled in a mathematics class. The purpose of the club is to stimulate interest in math and to introduce forms of math not used in the class room.

Every year certificates are presented to Freshmen who are outstanding in algebra.

The meeting date of the club is the first Monday of the month, and they meet six times a year. Miss Nina Martin, Mathematics Department head, is sponsor of the group.

Ben Davis Installs Youth For Christ Club

Youth For Christ, a national organization, was installed at Ben Davis this year. The purpose of this club is to interest students in Christian living and the main objective now is to increase membership. The movie, "Seventeen," was shown to 160 Ben Davis students, including the 30 members of the club. The movie was exhibited to stimulate interest in an attempt to enlarge membership. The group centers its activities around Christian principles. As a beginning project, the organization is helping to support a Japanese Mission. The Youth For Christ meets twice a month and is sponsored by Mrs. Margaret Shuler.

Club Stimulates Spanish Interests

The Spanish Club initiation was held November 5 at which the 15 members celebrated the "Day of the Dead," a Spanish and Mexican festival.

The purpose of the club is to interest pupils in Spanish-speaking countries and thereby activate their interest in the language which they study at school.

The meetings, which are held on the first and third Mondays of each month, are open to anyone who is enrolled in a Spanish class at Ben Davis.

An old-fashioned sleigh ride and dance was held on February 16 at the Acton Dude Ranch, and the members also planned to sponsor a Spanish dinner sometime in the spring.

Miss Virginia Hawn, new to Ben Davis's faculty this year, is adviser to the group.

Drivers' Club officers are: Standing: Lewis Jones. Seated: Shanda Cook, Harold Craig, president; Rosie Burrous.

Drivers' Club Holds Student Court

The Ben Davis Drivers' Club, which is combined with the Magistrate Court, was newly organized this year and is only the second in the state of Indiana.

The purpose of the club is to build good citizens and increase the number of safe, courteous drivers on the highways.

The Magistrate Court, which consists of a student judge and jury, tries and prosecutes the illegal drivers at Ben Davis.

Daily duties of the members include checking the school parking lot to see that each car has been safety-checked, and is parked correctly and in its proper place.

A court session is held on Friday afternoon every two weeks.

Each morning Lewis Jones, Student Traffic judge and Club sponsor, Mr. Woodrow Baker, check the parking lot to make sure all student cars are where they are supposed to be.

S. P. Q. R. members, Erla Danner, Amelia Morris, Duane Randal, and Martha Bicknell, present a Latin play at a monthly meeting.

Chuck Ford auctions off slave, John Noe at the annual slave sale. Prospective buyers, Barbara Trout and Bill Hall, look on.

Larry Bingham is toured onto the football field in preparation for the Latin Club's annual Chariot race, by Jerry Brown and Guy Dennis.

Each spring S.P.Q.R. members celebrate the Roman festival, Floralia, by bringing flowers and decorating the class rooms. Virginia Hubbard prepares a bouquet.

SPQR Celebrates Ancient Festivals

The Ben Davis Latin Club is a member of the Junior Classical League. There are over 200 members in the club and 18 officers. At each of the meetings, members try to recreate a different phase of life in ancient Rome.

At the initiation, which is held in the fall, new members are taken on a trip through the underworld blindfolded.

At the second meeting the election of officers is held and also a ceremony of sacrifice.

The December meeting means the Saturnalia, which is the harvest festival. The Christmas celebration follows.

The highlight of the February meeting is the slave market, and in the early spring, the Roman banquet.

May brings the Floralia, a colorful spring celebration at which the students brighten the classrooms by giving spring flowers to different teachers and classes.

The chariot races are also held in May. The Latin Club is sponsored by Mrs. Helen Mercer, Dean of Girls, and meets on the third Wednesday of the month.

Songsters Provide

An appearance on the Monument Circle Easter, the making of records, and a spring tour of the northern part of the state were included in the A Capella Choir's plans for the year.

This season was one of the busiest and most significant for the group. They made approximately 30 public appearances.

Being chosen to perform the Hallelajah Chorus at the Easter Sunrise Service on the Monument Circle was a great honor for the choir.

Records, which proved successful last year, prompted the choir to make another record. This year's record will feature among others, songs by George Gershwin, arranged especially for the choir.

Entertainment

A Capella members displayed their versatility by staging a variety show for the Veteran's Hospital in March.

The Purplettes, Ben Davis' all girl choir, meet the fourth period every day in the music room. There are 50 members, and they are under the direction of Mr. Bill Roderick.

The girls study vocal technique during class. Correct breathing, posture, and vowel pronunciation were practiced to develop well-trained voices.

The group sings in the student convocation presented by the Music Department each year.

A group picnic is sponsored in the spring for members and their guests.

Mr. Bill Roderick, director, practices a new song for choir members, Marjorie Pettit and Debbie Brown.

Winning honors is nothing new to Mr. Ralph Chandler and his marching band. They can always be counted on to bring home honors. In the fall the band won fourth place among 92 bands at the Indiana State Fair. At the Parade of Bands in Chicago they placed first in Class A. Later they placed second at the Vigo County Fair in Terre Haute. They also brought home a first place rating from an Ellettsville contest.

A third band for beginners was started the second semester to teach students basic fundamentals. A dance band was also formed the second semester.

Libraries Combine Facilities

A combination of the Junior Building, Wayne Central, and Senior Libraries took place this year. The book collection has been divided by having Fiction and 800 and 900 books housed in room 208. The catalog, pamphlet and magazine material was put in the center room and the remainder of the subject books in room 210.

The Ben Davis library provides reference and recreation for its students. A staff of three now maintains the service; Mrs. Louise G. Williams, Miss Nell Cuff, and Mrs. Roberta Harmon, who was added to the staff this year. Thirty-six student librarians and typists assist the senior librarians. From these students, two are chosen to attend the Indiana University workshop each summer.

Seniors who have served three consecutive years on the library staff are given pins on Honor Day.

The library provides an opportunity to gain useful experience for students who wish to go into that line of work after graduation.

Special Services Provide Valuable

Answering telephones, running errands, taking dictation, typing, and selling in the Book Den gives valuable business training to many Ben Davis girls.

Each office receptionist serves for an hour a day, though they receive no credit for these services. Three confident girls are assigned to the office each day while two girls work in the Book Den each period.

A department head is assigned a student secretary during his preparation period. Department secretaries are advanced business students who wish practical experience before entering the business world.

Before being appointed as an office girl, a student must have successfully completed various commercial courses and receive a recommendation of the commercial department and the administration.

Book Denners are selected by Mr. Donald Sargent, faculty manager. They are selected on the basis of their integrity, grades, ability to meet the public, and neatness in appearance.

Approximately ten pupils use the facilities of the student clinic each day.

The girls who are chosen to work in the clinic are dependable, interested, and keep their grades above average. The girls also receive valuable vocational guidance in the clinic since it gives them an opportunity to develop poise and ability and teaches them to accept responsibility. This training often proves beneficial in the future.

A few activities of the clinic girls include assisting the nurse with first aid, making appointments for her, helping with records, and helping with the school health programs, which include hearing and tuberculin patch tests. Notifying parents and doctors in case of injury or illness is another important duty of the clinic workers.

School nurse, Mrs. Ursel Sommers, gives Gene McWilliams a hearing test. Each student is tested at regular scheduled intervals.

Cafeteria Serves Over 900 Daily

About 40 students and 22 local women work in the two school cafeterias to serve over 900 people daily.

At present the students eat in three shifts of 30 minutes each. They are encouraged to buy Grade-A lunches which include a meat, a vegetable, bread and butter, a salad or a dessert, and milk.

Everyone is eagerly awaiting the construction of the new Industrial Arts and Cafeteria Building which is scheduled for completion next fall. Then all students will eat in one place, and it is to be large enough to avoid the crowded conditions which now exist.

Sports . . .

More than 200 boys participate in the competitive sports program at Ben Davis. From early fall, when boys turn out for the first football practice until the last baseball and track uniforms are put away in the spring, boys work hard for a winning season. Thirteen coaches, three cheerleaders, and nine managers help Ben Davis Giants to victory.

Football Dominates

The "56" football season opened with a new coaching staff. Head coach was Mr. John Masariu; assistant coach, Mr. Woodrow Baker; reserve coach, Mr. Trent Gipson.

The Giants in the opening game won over the Danville Warriors with a 19-12 victory.

Despite the determination and desire, the hard-fighting gridironers dropped decisions to Southport, Warren Central, Broad Ripple, Sacred Heart, Manual, and Washington by decisive margins.

A 14-7 victory over Decatur Central was the final victory for the "Giants," who won but two of their nine games.

The Ben Davis gridders wound up the season by dropping a rough battle against Cathedral, with a score of 20-32.

Jim Harmon was named an All-County guard by Indianapolis sports writers.

Other Giants receiving honorable mention were Norman Buckrop and Mike Maguire.

Under Coach Trent Gipson, the reserves completed their campaign with an even 4-4 record.

games against Warren, Wood, Southport, and Bloomington.

However, they lost their last three games to Sacred Heart, Washington, and Cathedral.

Coach Gipson commented that these boys have shown the desire, ability, and outstanding competitiveness to become fine athletes for Ben Davis.

The freshman football team, under new coach Evan Fine, had a very remarkable season with five wins.

Although it took the Giants their first two games to get started, they made a good comeback by defeating the Harry E. Wood freshman team by a 20 point margin.

As the season progressed, they developed into a strong team with enough determination and fight to remain on top.

There were a total of 14 touchdowns and 12 extra points made this year, with most of the credit going to the line for its fine blocking. Bruce Shrout, Leroy McSchooler, William Humphreys, Raymond Rippy, Duane Wood, and Ronald Archer did a fine job in carrying out their duties in the backfield.

Thinlies Win County Championship

Cross country champs for the third time in the last five years is the Ben Davis cross country team, coached by Mr. Paul Ritterskamp.

"The team ran well as a unit this year and were well balanced all through the season," says Mr. Ritterskamp. "There was no certain boy who stood out from all the rest as I had six different boys to finish first in six different meets. The team had fine spirit, and I am very proud of the boys."

The Giant thinlies also showed themselves very well in the Sectionals by placing fifth among twenty-four teams which come from over the state to compete. The Ben Davis "Ritterskampers" lacked only one point of getting a chance to compete for state honors.

Wrestlers Post 4-10 Mat Record

Led by Guy Dennis, Larry Trout, and Terrell Kays, the Giant wrestlers took fourth place in the Sectionals. Guy Dennis took third place in the state wrestling tourney in his weight class and Larry Trout took fifth place in his class.

The Ben Davis grapplers under Mr. Joe Preda, who is in his second year as wrestling coach, didn't have a very successful season, posting a four win and ten loss record. However, Mr. Preda stated that he had a good group of freshmen and sophomores, and that he is expecting to have a good season during the coming year.

Basketball Teams

Giant Larry Pratt drives under for two points in the Pike Township game at the County Tourney.

The Ben Davis Netmen who posted an excellent 17-6 record also put a record in the books for number of points scored in a single game. This record was established against Clinton in a 94-66 rout. Also the 17-6 record is the best one posted since the 1951 season when the Giant team finished with 17 wins and 4 losses. The Giants went to the semi-finals of the sectionals this season to become the first team to go that far since 1941 when their coach, Mr. Marion Fine, played on the varsity team.

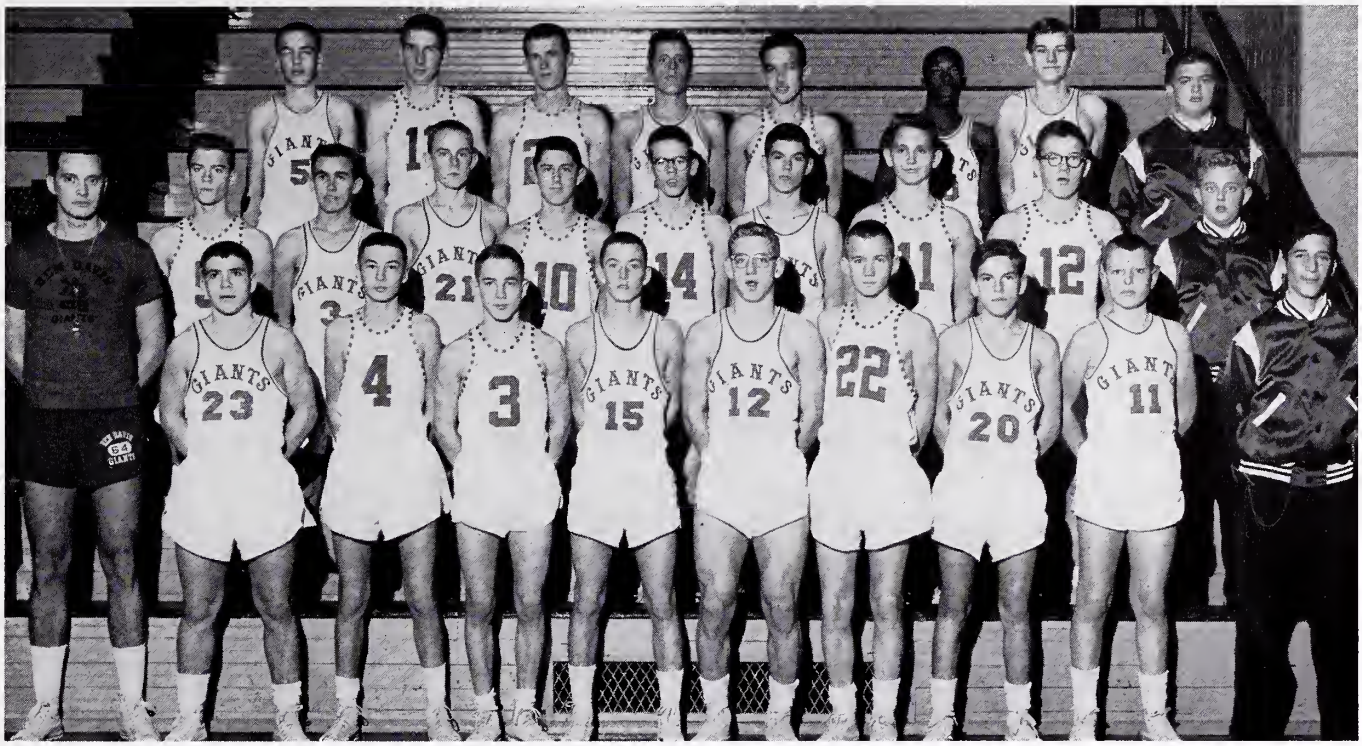

The reserve squad also set an all-time record at Ben Davis with an 18-2 record. This reserve team also went to the finals of their county tourney but were defeated by Southport.

Although the frosh team was the only one of the three teams to have a losing record, they were the only one of the teams to win their county tourney by defeating Southport.

Baseball Squad Posts 13-6 Record

The Ben Davis Diamondmen, who posted a creditable 13-6 record, was a "Better than average ball club" in the words of their coach, Mr. Trent Gipson.

The Giants got off to a fast start in the '56 season, taking six of their first nine games. Two of the three losses came at the hands of city power by margins of one run. Tech administered the first defeat in the opening game 4-3 and Broad Ripple the second by the same count.

During the season, the "B.D. Nine" played seven county schools, and of these only Southport could defeat the Giants. That loss came in the final game of the County Tourney by a 5-1 count. The Giants had beaten the Cardinals earlier in the season but couldn't turn the trick in the tourney.

The '57 squad played on a new diamond which was located farther back toward the football field. Also two new schools, Lebanon and North Central, have been added to the schedule.

This year, the Giants opened the '57 campaign against the Washington Continentals whom the Giants defeated in the '56 season 6-2.

Tracksters Miss Title by 1/4 Point

The Ben Davis Track squad for the '57 season will be coached by the newly appointed athletic director, Mr. Howard Williams. Coach Williams will be minus a few outstanding tracksters from the '56 season. Tom Gilmore, who won the sectionals in the 440 yd. dash in 51.3, Marvin Meranda, who ran in high and low hurdles, and Norman Buckrop, who ran 100 yd. dash, will be missed most by the cindermen.

In the '56 season, coached by Mr. Lou Parnell, the Giants were beaten by Warren Central by only ¼ of a point in a meet that wasn't decided until the last event. The Ben Davis track men did fairly well in the Sectionals, placing sixth among all Marion County teams.

Returning lettermen for the '57 season will be John Watts, Cliff Elson, Jerry Brown, Mike Maguire, Joe Baker, Guy Dennis, Bob McWilliams, Kenneth Cuffel, and Bob Sears.

Perfect attendance awards went to Ted Smith, Charles Walker, Shirley Waggoner, Kenny Gentry, Jerry Williams, Vernon Stevens and Peggy Savage.

Back Giants

The Athletic Department is headed by a new director, Mr. Howard Williams. Under his direction, 12 other coaches guide and direct the athletic program at Ben Davis. Nine of these coaches teach physical education or science at Ben Davis, and the other three teach in the Wayne Township grade schools.

The student managers, selected by the coaches, must make passing grades to remain with the teams. These boys spend long hours after school taking care of athletic equipment, mopping, sweeping, easing athlete's sore muscles, and taping ankles. All this saves the coaches a great deal of time.

The cheerleaders, in perfecting the art of cheerleading, have embraced endless skills and talents in acrobatics, showmanship, clowning, dancing, and music.

A striking new attire was fashioned for the girls this year. Polkadots made our cheerleaders attractive and served as a theme for the Booster section.

Many sportswriters commented on the fine sportsmanship displayed by the Ben Davis yell leaders and Booster cheering section.

Varsity Cheerleaders, Nancy Farr, LaVerne Norris, and Romilda England won praise for leading Ben Davis in good sportsmanship and good yells.

Girls Enjoy Variety of Sports

Teaching girls the value of co-operation and good sportsmanship through organized sports and other activities is the main goal of the Girls' Athletic Association. This group includes 60 girls. They meet every Tuesday after school in the Junior Building gymnasium where they participate in basketball, softball, volleyball, and various other activities.

Numerous awards, including the coveted state awards, are given to the girls who show outstanding work. Girls must earn 350 points and pass 10 skill tests to earn a state award. These honors were given to Beulah Dixon, Linda Randel, and Barbara Lentz. The sportsmanship trophy, which is the highest honor of G.A.A., is awarded at a banquet held in April of each year. Last year's recipient was Jackie Dunnigan.

Album . . .

People make Ben Davis. Every one of the 232 seniors, 1355 underclassmen, and 72 teachers and administrators is a vital and necessary part of Ben Davis High School. From 7:40 to 2:30 Ben Davis is jammed with people of all descriptions and sizes. Slamming lockers, hurrying to lunch, waiting at the Book Den door, and rushing to class are all the people who make Ben Davis.

Principal at Ben Davis High School is Mr. Madison T. Shadley. Mr. Shadley, with the aid of the other administrators, directs the policies of the school.

Mr. Frank Cline is the supervising principal for all Wayne Township schools. He is also the principal at Bridgeport Grade School.

The trustee for Wayne Township is Mr. Samuel Lang whose main job is allocating funds and supervising building construction and maintenance.

Administrators, Faculty Unite in Common Goal

Although Ben Davis' 67 teachers and six administrators represent a cross section of backgrounds, interests, religious sects, political beliefs, and educational theories, they are all united in a common goal—educating the 1660 high school students in Wayne Township to the best of their abilities.

In this constant search for the "one best way" to educate each student, changes are constantly necessary. Buildings are constructed, remodeled, enlarged, and changed in order to keep up with growing enrollment and modern methods. This year an Industrial Arts and Cafeteria Building was added to the campus, and an addition of three rooms added to the Main Building.

Courses are continually added and dropped from the curricular. Special classes in math and English were added this year in an effort to solve some of the basic deficiencies in those fields. Experimentation with a new personal civics class on the freshman level will start next year.

Mr. William Girton serves as Registrar and Vice-principal in the Main Building.

Mr. Howard Wood, vice-principal in the Junior Building was formerly athletic director.

Guidance Counselor and Vice-principal in the Wayne Central Building is Mr. Richard Apple.
